STORM QUEST

Can you solve this cryptic picture puzzle from Storm Quest: the book where YOU choose how your story unfolds?

You find yourself in a narrow room filled from floor to ceiling with dozens of goblets, chalices and cups on shelves. Each one seems to be different. A little further on, the room opens into a chamber where a shaft of pure sunlight falls onto a stone plinth. When you stride through for a closer look, you find these words carved into the plinth: “Those who wish to capture a drop of sunlight must use the cup with the same number of handles as jewels.”

Look at the picture. Which cup should you pick?

Hint: Look more closely at the second shelf down on your left
