

Test your observation

To become a really Good Spy, you must train yourself to notice even the smallest details of every situation. Test your powers of observation, and then your friends' by covering up the right-hand page and looking carefully at the left-hand page only. Then cover this up and see how many things you can see that are different on the right-hand page. There are 20. Can you spot them all?

